Q-The graph below shows the different modes of transport used to travel to and from work in one European city in 1960, 1980 and 2000.

-Write a report for a university lecturer describing the information below.

Model answer:

As depicted in the graph, commuters in London commuted by rail, automobile, tube, or bus in 1960, 1980, and 2000.

People who used trains increased from slightly under 20% in 1960 to around 26% in 1980 but then declined to about 23% in 2000.

The percentage of commuters who use the tube has been pretty steady, dipping from roughly 27% in 1960 to 22% in 1980, then rebounding again to 25% in 2000.

Car use, on the other hand, climbed consistently from just over 5% in 1960 to 23% in 1980, reaching almost 40% by 2000, while bus use has fallen continuously since 1960, from just under 35% in 1960 to 27% in 1980, and just 15% in 2000.

Between 1960 and 2000, the graph shows an increase in the usage of vehicles for commuting to work, with a corresponding fall in the popularity of buses, which went from being the most popular mode of transportation in 1960 to the least popular in 2000.
