

IELTS WRITING TASK 2

Q-Do you agree or disagree with the following statement?

A person should never make an important decision alone.

-Use specific reasons and examples to support your answer.

Model answer:

From personal experience and observation, I can say that talking about a big decision with other people has a lot of advantages. In the following lines, I will explain why I believe this statement is correct.

To begin with, various people have different viewpoints. People should debate all conceivable decisions and their repercussions to make the best conclusion. Making a significant decision on your own might have a lot of drawbacks. For example, a person's selfishness or impatience can be revealed, and the implications of that decision can have far-reaching consequences for many individuals in the future. I believe that only via conversation can a sound and intelligent decision be made because people may share their knowledge and experiences while looking at the situation from many perspectives.

Second, I believe that deciding on one's own, especially in a business, is unacceptable. For example, consider the case of a chief who intends to expand a production line without consulting his personnel. In this case, a portion of the company's profit will purchase raw materials in bulk. As a result, dividends will not be paid to shareholders. In addition, this move may result in the sale of the firm's stock, lowering the company's value as a whole.

To summarise, while making a significant decision, a person should always contact their family or colleges to prevent making a mistake.
